HAYWOOD STRIKERS BATTLE POLICE

Riots at Passaic, N. J., Follow Appeal to Textile Workers by a Leader of the I. W. W.—Five Arrests as Result of Clash

PASSAIC, N. J., April 5.—Thirty deputies, carrying out the orders of the sheriff of Bergen county to prevent the holding of textile strikers' meetings in Garfield, today fought with 250 strikers.

Revolvers were fired by the deputies, clubs were used and bricks were hurled by the strikers. Five strikers were taken to the Hackensack jail, charged with inciting to riot.

The trouble began when a crowd approached the Forstmann and Hasmann mills at Garfield. They stopped, and Charles Rothlisber, one of William D. Haywood's organizers, started to make a speech. Half a dozen deputies rushed forward to prevent the meeting. Strikers near the speaker used their fists on the deputies, but they arrested Rothlisber.

An order was issued by the authorities today forbidding Haywood, of the Industrial Workers of the World, from leading the strikers in their fight for higher wages. Mass meetings were forbidden by Mayor Finnegan, while Chief of Police John A. Morse of Garfield took similar action. The action of the officials has incensed the strike leaders, who charge the authorities are hand in glove with the mill owners to prevent the workers from getting higher wages.

G. W. Perkins Heads New York Jury That Is Worth $50,000,000

Twelve Men of Big Fortunes Drawn on Panel to Try a Homicide Case.

NEW YORK, April 5.—George W. Perkins, former partner of the J. P. Morgan house and chief figure in the Harvester Trust, the Roosevelt campaign and other large promotions, was today made foreman of a millionaire jury called by the coroner in the Bronx to investigate the killing of J. Harry Lavelle by Benjamin Jackson.

Cyrus H. Cortelyou, president of the Consolidated Gas Company and the man who raised the biggest campaign fund ever known in American politics, was also a member of the jury.

The entire list, making up a $50,000,000 jury, represented more money and influence than any coroner's jury ever chosen. The members were:

George W. Perkins, capitalist, foreman; George G. Cortelyou, president Consolidated Gas Company; Charles W. Bogart, president of the Twenty-third Ward Bank; Robert J. Cluse, wealthy builder; John McCay Camp, wealthy coal baron; W. Yates Warehouse owner; W. T. H. Bacon, head of the concern that makes the piano of that name; Lloyd Phyfe, architect; Frank C. Griswold, banker; Charles Ahlman, builder; George P. Boeringer, sign writer, and O. H. Werner, secretary of the Central Union Gas Company.

Mrs. Anthony, of the Gem-Studded Shoes, to Visit Son Here

Young Man, Harvard Student, Hasn't Fled, as Reported, From Talk of Mother's Jewelled Heels.

Harvey Anthony, Harvard student, son of Mrs. Charles H. Anthony of Muncie, Ind., the woman who startled society in Washington and New York by arriving in those cities with six pairs of shoes studded with diamonds, declared today his mother will come to Boston in about a week. He doesn't know anything about the jewelled shoes.

There had been a rumor that young Anthony had become so embarrassed over the talk of his mother's diamond heeled slippers he had left Harvard. He said today he had not. He also declared he did not know whether his mother wore diamonds in the heels of her shoes, and if she did all the talk was "nonsense" and "bosh."

"Mother is coming over here to Cambridge to see me in about a week, and I don't like to see this stuff in the papers," he said. "If it was all true it would be just as ridiculous to my way of thinking, and I don't like it.

"Nothing in it, then? Well, I should say not. Not as far as I know. I don't see my mother very often while I am in college, and I don't like anything like this getting into the papers just before she comes over here."

Those $5-a-Quart Gems.

According to Mr. Anthony's father, who is in Muncie, these diamonds that his wife is wearing on her heels can be bought for $5 a quart. He told the assessors of Muncie so.

Mrs. Anthony don't agree with her husband. When told in New York of what he said she replied:

"Well, of all things! I feel terribly embarrassed. Charlie knows as well as I do that those stones are genuine. He bought them himself. It's one of his jokes, but I don't like it very much. It makes me appear so terribly foolish.

She Says They're Real.

"I shall send Charlie a telegram and tell him not to make any more comments like that. I suppose as it is favoring time he thought maybe the assessor might take advantage of those stories of my beautiful diamonds. Each stone has been bought with great care. I haven't a single diamond that cannot bear the closest scrutiny from an expert."

In a discussion on how much a well-dressed American woman is obliged to spend for clothes, Mrs. Anthony gave the following list of her purchases made within a year:

Musical Picketing Latest Plan of Mill Strikers in Lowell

Operatives With Drums and Horns Outside Mills; Mill Men Turn Down Mayor's Peace Plan.

LOWELL, April 5.—"Musical picketing" was inaugurated by the strikers here today. After a parade of three hundred marching operatives, who minded not in the least the mingled sleet and snow that was falling, pickets with snare drums and fifes and instruments were stationed outside the Bigelow Carpet Company and the Hamilton Mills.

The music was to be kept up continually all day, and by this new plan the I. W. W. leaders hope to attract new recruits to their strike standard.

The Lowell mills will not adopt Mayor O'Donnell's proposal of a plan for strike settlement. Jude C. Wadleigh of the Merrimac Manufacturing Company, a leader among the mill men, said:

"It would be out of the question for us to do as he suggests and open our mills for three weeks pending a settlement. We have offered the men all we are able to offer them. To allow them now to come back to work would not only to raise hopes we could not satisfy. Not wishing to do this, all the mills will remain closed, for peace, at least."

"We have no intention of opening the mills Monday."

H. W. SMITH'S SUIT AGAINST PLANT FOR $350,000 IS BEGUN

WORCESTER, April 5.—The $350,000 suit of Harry Worcester Smith, the sportsman, against Thomas G. Plant, the Boston millionaire shoe manufacturer, involving, it is alleged, the selling of certain shoe machinery patents to the United Shoe Machinery Company, is up for trial before Judge Lawton in the Superior Court today. Mr. Smith, who is represented by Choate, Hall & Stewart, seeks to recover $350,000, alleging he caused a meeting whereby Plant sold his machinery properties for $7,000,000.

Mr. Smith last week came into prominence by bringing about the consolidation of five of the largest machine tool manufacturers in the country in a $2,500,000 corporation.

2 KILLED AS EARTH CAVES IN

Laborers Smothered as High Gravel Bank Gives Way and Buries Men Far Below Street Level—Vain Attempts Made at Rescue

Two men were killed by a cave-in in the basement of the new Fleet building at the corner of Summer and Washington streets today.

The dead are:

JOHN McGRATH, names unknown.

WILLIAM PEAKE, colored, of Cambridge.

McGrath was dead when dug from beneath the fallen earth. Peake was alive and was rushed to the Relief Hospital, but died there.

The accident occurred at 8 o'clock. The two men were working about a steam shovel which is excavating in the basement, forty-eight feet below the level of the street. Suddenly the high wall of gravel crumbled and fell, smothing them.

Workers near heard just one sound, a stifled, gasping cry, as the men were entombed. A score rushed to the scene, and in quick time had cleared away the loose rubbish and released the men.

The accident happened so far down in the building that men on the upper floors knew nothing about it for some time. Passersby on the street heard no excitement, and except when the ambulance came and rushed the injured man to the hospital, no crowd gathered.

No statement could be secured from the constructors as to the cause of the accident.

INCENDIARY AT REVERE SCHOOL

An attempt was made early today to burn the Crescent Avenue School at Beachmont. Had it not been for the vigilance of Patrolman Starkey, the firebug would undoubtedly have succeeded. Fragments of oil soaked rags were found by the firemen and the strong odor of oil near the scene of the fire leaves no doubt in the minds of the firemen but that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Patrolman Starkey, while going his rounds through Crescent avenue, saw a flicker of light behind the school. He went to investigate and found a lively fire in progress on the rear platform. He saw the bundle of oil-soaked rags and paper burning and, creeping as near as he could, gave the bundle a kick.

The flames were eating their way under the clapboards when the apparatus arrived but the firemen made short work of them.

Chief A. L. Kimball, Captain George F. Basford of the fire department, and the police began to investigate at once and saw that the platform on which the bundle of rags had been placed was thoroughly soaked with oil.

The damage was slight.

HETTY GREEN NOW IN REAL, TRUE OFFICE

NEW YORK, April 5.—Mrs. Hetty Green, the most important feminine factor in the money market, has opened offices of her own. She has now moved the ancient rolltop desk which has served her for many years to the offices of the Westminster Company, at No. 111 Broadway, celebrating the occasion by having the ancient piece of furniture re-varnished.

The workers demand an increase of 10 per cent. in their present wages. The meeting is held for an informal discussion of the situation.

Adopted Mrs. Robbins for Saving Wife Cochrane Tells How He Won Daughter

MRS. BERNICE M. ROBBINS, ADOPTED BY FORMER EMPLOYER.

Woburn Man Grateful to Former Employe, Now Married, Who Nursed Wife for Weeks.

It was because Mrs. Bernice M. Robbins, nursed Mrs. George A. Cochrane through a long and serious illness from which she recovered that George A. Cochrane, a commission merchant, legally adopted Mrs. Robbins as his daughter.

The remarkable case caused much comment today, both in Woburn, where the Cochranes reside, and in Dorchester, where Mrs. Robbins lives with her husband.

Mr. Cochrane is seventy-one years of age. He was seen today at his office, No. 174 State street. He was somewhat reluctant to discuss the matter, but in order to show that there is nothing to be concealed in connection with the transaction he explained why the adoption was made.

Nursed His Wife.

"You see," said Mr. Cochrane, "Mrs. Robbins, who is about twenty-five years old, came to work for me in my office several years ago. She was Miss Bernice Peacock, and she came from New Brunswick. She was an orphan.

"I took a great liking to the girl, and so did my wife. She is strong, reliable and always did her work well. It was really at the suggestion of Mrs. Cochrane that I adopted her. We did so as a show of appreciation for what she had done for us.

"My wife was very ill a year ago and Mrs. Robbins went to our home, and with the love and care of a daughter nursed my wife back to health and strength. We both believe my wife would never have recovered had it not been for the care given to her by Bernice.

"There is no money consideration in this thing at all. My wife and I love the girl as a daughter, and so we made her our daughter legally."

Husband Consented.

"But she has a husband, hasn't she?" was asked.

"Yes, and she was married at my house. We are friendly with her husband and it was with his consent that we adopted her. She has a good home in Dorchester."

"Will she live with you or remain at her home in Dorchester?"

"Well, I can't say as to that yet, but whatever is done will be satisfactory to both sides. I'm sorry that the matter became public, but everything has been done regularly and legally. We have adopted the young woman because we like her and I believe she likes us."

The husband of Mrs. Robbins is a carpenter. They live on Linden street, Dorchester. When a reporter called there today Mrs. Robbins declined to discuss the matter. The Cochrane residence is at No. 187 Pleasant street, Woburn.

FINGER PRINTS A DEATH CLEW

The Waltham police renewed their efforts today to secure the identity of the woman who was found dead in a shed near the Clematis Brook station of the Boston & Maine Railroad, a lonely section in the outskirts of Waltham.

It is believed that the woman died from exposure, but the discovery of finger prints in the dust near the body led to a suspicion that there might have been foul play. The police believe that these marks were made by the woman's fingers and prints will be taken of her fingers and compared with the others.

The woman was between fifty-five and sixty years of age and her clothing was wet and bedraggled. Her pocketbook lay near the body, open. It contained 20 cents. Nothing could be found that indicated the woman's identity.

The police believe that the woman got off the train at Clematis Brook on Tuesday night, when it was raining and blowing, and that she either had no place to go or became ill and crawled into the nearest building to escape the storm.

There in the darkness, wet by the rain and with the hard floor of the shed for a bed, the aged woman died alone. The body was found by some boys. Today it lay at Strauch's morgue, where it was viewed by several who attempted to identify it.

Mrs. Winn is widely acquainted in Georgia, and she is writing to her friends urging them to support Wilson.

Easter Forecast Is Fair and Warmer

Weather Man, After Rain and Snow, Promises Sunday Will Be Fit for Finery.

It's all right, ladies—it's going to be fair and warmer on Sunday, so don't be afraid to wear your Easter finery. Easter will be ideal.

All sorts of weather struck Boston today. First a snow storm, then a rain storm, combined with a wind which sent the chills up and down the spine of those who had just invested in new Easter outfits. But at 10 o'clock things began to clear. Said the weather man:

"Things are rather mixed out Minnesota and Dakota way, but it probably will clear by tomorrow night and Sunday should be moderately cooler. Tomorrow will be warm, but Sunday will not be chilly enough to be uncomfortable."

MISS KELLERMANN IS TIRED OF BEING "THE DIVING VENUS"

NEW YORK, April 5.—Annette Kellermann, variously called "The Diving Venus" and "The Perfect Woman," sailed aboard the Adriatic. In London she will appear in a dancing and singing specialty, and will swim only occasionally. She went aboard the steamship garbed in a green gown that clung to her figure from shoulder to ankle, a green bonnet with streamers of the same color, a white pony coat and cream-colored ski shoes, the whole set off by a large bouquet of pink roses. She begged that no one refer to her any more as the "Diving Venus," for she wanted to do something besides swim to please the public. Neither did she wish to be known as "the perfect woman."

PROMISES ACTION ON SHOE MACHINE BILL

WASHINGTON, April 5.—If the suggestion made by Chairman Clayton of the House Committee on the Judiciary is accepted, the Thayer bills, aimed at the United Shoe Machinery Company, will not be turned over to the Committee on Patents, as has been proposed, but will be acted upon by the Committee on the Judiciary. "Our committee had so much work before this session that it has not been able to take up the United Shoe Machinery matter," said Representative Clayton, "but we hope to very shortly."

AFFAIRS OF A CITY HALTED BY WOMAN

EVEN POLICE PATROL SEIZED BY SHERIFFS ATTACHING MUNICIPAL PROPERTY IN MRS. QUINN'S SUIT FOR $300

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 5.—Mrs. Eilen Quinn practically tied up the machinery of Portsmouth city government today by having attachments put on the City Hall and the movable property of city departments to cover a $300 damage claim.

Under instructions from Mrs. Quinn's counsel two sheriffs sealed the desks of city officials. They attached horses and wagons of the street watering and ash and garbage collecting departments.

They even tied up the police patrol wagon so no arrests could be made.

After two hours of this the attachments were raised by Mayor Daniel W. Badger filing his personal bond for $3,000. That permitted the city government wheels to move again.

City Tied Up Tight.

It was the first time in Portsmouth history that the city was so successfully "closed up." Portsmouth reformers are taking their hats off to Mrs. Ellen Quinn. The politicians admit they must study her methods.

Mrs. Quinn had presented a bill of $300 to the city for damage she said was done to the heating apparatus of her house by a leaking sewer.

The committee on claims of the city council allowed her bill at last night's meeting. But Mayor Badger vetoed the bill when it was read in the council meeting. He said it was an overcharge and that Mrs. Quinn could go to law about it.

Mrs. Quinn took the Mayor at his word. She sent for Ernest L. Guptill, her attorney. Mr. Guptill got a writ of attachment against the city. Then he gave copies of the writ to Sheriffs Shaw and Spinney, with instructions to hustle around and attach any city property they could find. This was 9 a. m., just as city business was beginning.

Attach City Hall.

The sheriffs said: "City Hall ought to be good for $300. We'll attach that first."

They entered the hall and attached the building. Then they went from office to office and attached desks and any other furniture that looked liked good marketable property.

Word of their coming flashed through the hall. When heads of departments found the sheriffs meant business they picked up important papers and locked them in desks or hustled them out of the way.

Attach Patrol Wagon.

The City Hall includes the police, street and watering departments. The inevitable sheriffs attached the patrol barns and wagon. They were deaf to representations that a riot might start, especially if the calls for the patrol wagon should have keen sense of humor, heard that the police wagon was aground on the shoals of the bay. The sheriffs didn't know anything about that.

Then the sheriffs sallied into the street in time to head up street watering carts and ash and garbage wagons. They took the teams from the amazed drivers and drove them, loaded, to private stables. Incidentally they disarranged the collection schedule for the rest of the day.

The sheriff did not attach the fire department. There is a thoughtful statute forbidding interference with fire apparatus.

After Mayor Badger had filed his personal bond to get the attachment lifted he began to ponder whether the city was getting the better of Mrs. Ellen Quinn after all.

13 SMALLPOX CASES FOUND IN SALEM

SALEM, April 5.—Thirteen men, women and children, stricken with smallpox, were removed to the contagious hospital at Salem today. Eight more cases are under suspicion. The houses are located at "French Point" and on four under quarantine. Occupants of the houses are kept confined. One thousand children attending the French parochial schools of St. Joseph's and St. Anne's churches were brought to the Board of Health office today in readiness for vaccination. Classes at Holy Week there was no school. If necessary the parochial and even the public schools will be closed next week.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF CHINA ASSASSINATED

BERLIN, April 5.—The reported assassination of General Li Yuan Hung, Vice-President of the Chinese republic, is confirmed. Despite several protests, the Belgian syndicate handed over $10,000,000 to the Chinese authorities at Pekin and Shanghai. This money was furnished under the recent loan agreement. The "four power" coterie of international bankers had opposed the arrangement.

PORT DIRECTORS 'SEE' NEW YORK

The Directors of the Port of Boston are in New York today making an inspection of that city's waterfront and dock arrangements, notably the Bush terminal plant in South Brooklyn.

The party consists of Hugh Bancroft, Joseph A. Conry, William F. Fitzgerald, George E. Smith and Alonzo Temple T. Hooker, with Secretary Harry B. Wellman and Engineer Frank W. Hodgdon. They probably will return tonight.

They inspected the Bush terminal, a company with Mr. Bush himself. The Bush terminal is considered the latest accomplishment in the way of waterfront and dock development, and the directors may consider the possibility of the construction of such a plant along the Boston waterfront.

After their visit to the Bush terminal the directors were to make a sightseeing trip along the New York waterfront in company with Robert Moses, assistant director of docks and ferries for the port of New York. Several committees will report to an examination of the recently constructed docks piers, which are the most modern in New York.

Miss Mercy Proves Coiffure Her Own Frees Tresses in Court to Refute Claim

Jury Expected to Give Verdict in Slander Suit Over $250 Hat Today.

CHICAGO, April 5.—While Attorney Francis W. Walker was denouncing Miss Esther Mercy, who has brought suit for $100,000 against Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women of the Chicago University, as a "phenomenal liar" the temperamental young woman leaped to her feet and gave an actual demonstration of the falsity of one of the accusations.

"And she sits there now," thundered the lawyer, "with her false hair and false contortions during to look you in the eye."

At this moment the young woman, who declares that slanderous statements made by Dean Talbot caused her expulsion from the college, jumped up and snatched off her hat in the most approved hat-in-the-ring style, plucked at her coiffure with both hands until her hair fell about her shoulders, shook her head violently and gave an indisputable demonstration that her hair is all her own.

The sudden and startling act sent a thrill of excitement through the large audience in the court room. The hat that Miss Mercy doffed was not the celebrated $250 piece of millinery, but a fetching turban.

Judge Pomeroy at once instructed the jury and a verdict is expected today.

Attorney Walker also chose to berate Miss Mercy's fiance, Warren E. Reynolds, whom she has promised to marry Saturday when the verdict is expected to have been returned. Mr. Reynolds and "that hat" suffered so badly in the argument that the coed's fiance made a statement to a reporter.

"It might be well to enlighten the community with the fact that the hat that started all this fuss didn't cost $250 after all," he said. "I paid only $25 for it. But the value was $250. I don't care to explain how I made the bargain."

The point that Attorney Jennings effectively presented the jury was that the defence was afraid to produce as witnesses Mrs. Von Jahn and her sister, the wife of Dean Albion Small of the university.

"On the testimony of these two women depends the corroboration or denial of the important phases of Miss Mercy's case," said Mr. Jennings.

"Miss Mercy lived at Mrs. Von Jahn's house. It was there that the cigarettes in the hat were stolen. Mrs. Von Jahn was angry because she felt she was suspected. She interested Mrs. Small. They threatened Miss Mercy with expulsion in case she chose to investigate the theft. Then Dean Talbot became interested."

WATCH MAY CLEAR BOY SUSPECTED OF KILLING

PROVIDENCE, April 5.—Antonio Marriano, who is accused of killing Willie Mather, a twelve-year-old schoolmate, with a ten-pound rock, may be cleared by a watch just as he became involved by one.

The fact that Tony offered a cheap watch to several boys in Marieville who refused to accept it, is regarded by the police as one of the big factors in their case, but the imprisoned boy's relatives and counsel declare that this very watch eventually may be the means of clearing him of the manslaughter charge.

Tony's mother, through an interpreter, told an AMERICAN reporter today that the watch he showed to boys in the neighborhood was one her son-in-law, Francesco Zanpone, gave him. It was a dollar watch with a brass chain attached to it. She said the police had confounded this with the dead boy's watch. She was corroborated by Mr. and Mrs. Zanpone.

It is known that there has been some uneasiness among the government witnesses concerning the identity of the time-piece, and everything indicates that it will be a chief object of contention.

Attorney A. V. Pettine, representing Mariano, says he has a surprise up his sleeve concerning the watch. Unalmayed by the alleged confession made by his client, Attorney Pettine, in the few days he has been on the case, has gathered much evidence which he claims not only favors his client, but tends to direct suspicion toward another and older person.

Charge Arrest Unwarranted.

He openly charges that the North Providence authorities pounced upon Tony Mariano without any evidence to warrant suspicion; that they singled him out because of a previous shady reputation, and virtually converted him into a "human photograph," by having him repeat a confession suggested and dictated in the course of a grueling examination that lasted hours in a cell crowded by ambitious officials. He proposes to nullify a fight to bar the introduction of this confession, of which he says no stenographic record exists.

After touring the whole section in an automobile, viewing the scene of the killing, interviewed a number of witnesses and pursuing a new line of inquiry, Attorney Pettine said he was more convinced than ever of the innocence of the Mariano boy.

Although a young man, Mr. Pettine has won ten hundred cases, and he says the present is the most encouraging he ever tackled. The police, on the other hand, consider that he has consented to take up a lost cause. They say the Mariano boy's admission that he killed Willie accidentally was rejected to the judge in the Sixth District Court in this city, and that the whole narrative of the accused, although bristling with contradictions and lies, does show him to be the responsible person.

Will Not Probe Further.

Chief Willis says it would be a waste of time to investigate the movements of any other person.

The inquest was resumed today. It will last till next week. Only a few witnesses are examined every afternoon.

Mrs. F. J. Darden, who lives on the opposite side of the road from the hilly clearing upon which stands the shack which the Mariano family call home, substantiates in a degree the story told by Tony Mariano concerning the ownership of a number of baseball bats.

"My husband has a stationery store in Providence," said Mrs. Hayden, "and sells baseballs and bats. He sent home a lot of slopwork bats about three years ago and I remember giving the Mariano boys three of them. A whole box full of them were placed out in the barn for the hired men to chop up, but somehow we left them there and they gradually disappeared.

"I and Tony Mariano in my house here and questioned him about the Mather boy, before the police came for him last Saturday. I even showed him Wille Mather's picture in the papers, but he said he had never seen the boy. Having children of my own, this gruesome affair has singled me, as it has the other women of the neighborhood. I think it would be wise to have the Mariano boys placed under some guiding influence to insure their future."

Claim Boy a Burglar.

The North Providence police claim they have learned since Tony Mariano's arrest that he broke into the Marieville School and stole a little clock found at his house, but no such charge has been preferred against him.

Anthony V. Pettine, attorney for Mariano, said today that the entire circumstances surrounding the arrest and alleged forcing of the so-called confession bore all of the marks of being a "frame-up."

NEW LAW BARS DRY MEASURES

By the provisions of Chapter 246, Acts of 1912 of the Legislature, in effect April 15, vegetables, nuts and fruit from that date must either be sold at retail by weight or numerical count. The law will be enforced by Commissioner Palmer, head of the Weights and Measures Department of the Commonwealth.

There are upward of 50,000 dry measures in use in the State, and a good part of those will have to be discarded and scales substituted to conform to the requirements of the new law. It is estimated that 10,000 new scales will be needed to supplant the measures used by peddlers and by the stores of the State.

Commissioner Palmer is planning to work in conjunction with the sealers of weights and measures of the various cities and towns. The State officials are liable on and after April 15 to drop into a store or stop a peddler's team and put every conflicate dry measure, but also cite the owner into court.

The new law is as follows:

"Chapter 57 of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by striking out Section 21 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"Section 21. All fruits, vegetables and nuts, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, shall be sold at retail by dry measure, weight or by numerical count, and all fruits and vegetables for which a legal weight has been established shall be sold at retail only by weight or numerical count. Whoever violates any provision of this section shall forfeit a sum not exceeding $10 for each offense."

PEORIA, ILL., NOW IN LIMELIGHT; FREE LUNCHES BARRED

DON'T INVITE SICKNESS

Thin Blood Is a Standing Invitation to Every Disease That Is Prevalent.

Thin, impure blood is an invitation to sickness. The blood is at work, day and night, to maintain the health and any lack of strength or purity in the blood is a weakness in the defense against disease. Anemia is the doctor's name for lack of blood. There may be an actual loss in the quantity of the blood or one or more of its constituents may be lacking. Its surest symptom is pallor. Anemia is particularly common in young girls from 14 to 17 years of age. It is not confined to them for it is this same lack of blood that prevents full recovery after the grip, fevers, malaria and operations and is present in old age and in persons who have been under an unusual physical or mental strain.

If you are suffering from anemia you can profit by the experience of Mrs. H. J. Allencarr, of No. 3244 Glendora avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, who says: "I was in a terrible condition, all run down, nervous and hysterical some years ago. I had no appetite and was troubled with gas on the stomach. I was almost a skeleton and weighed only 104 pounds. I had no desire to live. I couldn't sleep well, was pale and sallow and there was no color in my lips at all. There seemed to be a pressure on the top of my head. I had palpitation of the heart and was short of breath on going up stairs or upon the least exertion. I doctored incessantly and was told that I lacked blood. The doctor gave me tonic after tonic and advised me to take plenty of exercise and fresh air. He finally said he could do nothing for me. I felt very much discouraged. One day I came across a pamphlet in which I learned about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. After taking four boxes I felt much better, in fact like a new person. I felt cheerful and lively. I began to take on flesh. I took twelve boxes and the change in me was something marvelous. I looked the picture of health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the grandest medicine for a general breakdown of the system."

Send for free booklet, "Diseases of the Blood."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

MISS CHRISTABEL PANKHURST, HUNTED NOW IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, April 5.—Christabel Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, long sought by the keenest detectives of Scotland Yard, is in New York, according to a well-founded report. She arrived on the liner Mauretania, according to a passenger. Today a vigorous search for her was begun.

Major Hershfield of the Essex and Suffolk Royal Artillery, who was on the ship and it now in this city with his wife, is the passenger who says he recognized Miss Pankhurst. He says he saw her on board and is sure he could not be mistaken.

BOY WINS PARDON FOR FATHER WHO DESERTED FAMILY

Domenick Anzelmo, freed from Deer Island through the efforts of his ten-year-old son, Frank, is looking for work today and declares that this time he is going to support his neglected family. Since August he has been at Deer Island, serving a two-year sentence for deserting his wife and five children and running away with his sister-in-law.

Frank, Anzelmo's oldest boy, armed with a pardon he had won from Governor Foss and accompanied by his mother went to the island and obtained the father's release. Then a reception was held in the basement that occupied by the Anzelmos. The neighbors came in and the relatives were there to welcome the father back.

The Anti-Lynching Society of African American Women held a largely attended meeting in Faneuil Hall, at which resolutions were passed denouncing the alarming spread of lynching and calling upon Congress to enact a law giving the Federal court jurisdiction in States which permit mob lynching. The presiding officer was Mrs. M. Cravath Simpson. Among the speakers were Darius Cobb, Albert W. Pillsbury, the Rev. Dr. Alexander Waters and the Rev. John L. Davis of Everett.

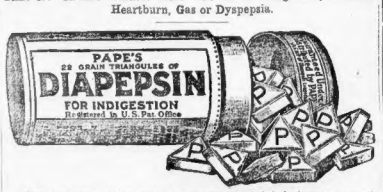
Time it! In five minutes there will be no Indigestion, Sourness Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia.



You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble have made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lies like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who haven't tried it.

RENEW "BLACK HAND" SEARCH

A second search for more "Black Hand" stowaways took place at 5.30 a. m. today on board the White Star Liner Cretic, on which twenty-seven Italians were found stowed away in a water tank on Wednesday. Today the crew were mustered on the top deck by order of Captain Raffaele Lebes and the roll called.

It was found that there had been several desertions, but the exact number was not made public. It was reported yesterday that sixteen members of the Italian crew had deserted the ship immediately after the ship had been searched and the stowaways found. It is thought that the number today showed that even a greater number was missing than was reported yesterday.

Colonel George B. Billings, commissioner of immigration for the port of Boston, has recommended that further shore leave be denied to Italian members of the crew, but under the present law relating to shore leave of crews on foreign vessels the commissioner has no power to enforce his recommendations, except in the case of Chinese sailors.

Wed After Being Engaged 40 Years

Pastor's Romance Which Began With Betrothal in 1871 Ends Happily With Wedding at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—Rev. Dr. Martin Luther Jenkins, aged sixty-seven, for sixteen years editorial-chief of the Methodist Recorder of Pittsburg and one of the best known ministers of the Methodist Church in Ohio and Pennsylvania, and Miss Julia Minerva Gray, aged sixty-three, of Zanesville, O., have culminated their romance which stretched over a period of forty years, by their marriage here at the Hotel Henry.

They were first engaged in 1871. A lovers' quarrel caused the engagement to be broken. Within a short time after the death of his first wife, Dr. Jenkins began a correspondence with Miss Gray, which finally resulted in the marriage. Rev. Dr. J. S. Lucas performed the ceremony.

Hermit's Bride on "Furlough"

Mrs. Otto Returns to Boston

"Art and Canyons Won't Mix," Explains Husband, Who Stays in Wilds.

Following a marriage in the canyons of Colorado, Mrs. Beatrice Farnham Otto, formerly an artist in this city, is back in Boston on what her hermit husband calls "a matrimonial furlough."

The furlough is to last five years. After that, a decision will be reached whether Mrs. Otto will return to her husband, and his canyons, mountains and burros, or get a divorce.

"My wife has gone back to her studio," said Otto, according to a dispatch from Grand Junction, Col., "and I am going to remain on the trail with my burros." Otto is superintendent of the Colorado National Park.

Preacher Wouldn't Climb.

The marriage of Miss Farnham and Superintendent Otto took place July 4 last year and originally was to be at the top of the great Independence Monument, a gigantic spur of rock that rises 548 feet in the air in the centre of Monument Canyon. Two weeks before the wedding Otto did it, worked his way up to the top of the natural monument, driving spikes into the sandstone so his bride and the minister might gain the crest.

When the wedding day arrived the minister refused to risk his life in making the climb, and the marriage took place at the foot of the rock.

The pair settled down to housekeeping and to the enjoyment of the "perfect life." "It didn't last week out," said Otto, "so we determined that we should both go on a furlough. Neither of us believes in divorce, but at the same time we believe that men and women should not attempt to live together unless bound by the 'fetters of love.' My life was in the hills and the canyons. Hers was wrapped up in art. Art and canyons won't mix well, so she determined to take a furlough. It will last five years.

May Seek Divorce.

"Then, if either of us cares to, we will apply for a divorce. If a man wants to make a woman happy, he must allow her to be absolutely free. It was the freedom of the studio and artistic life that appealed to her rather than the free life of the ranges. So she returned to Boston and I am going to stay with my work on the trail."

Otto is one of the well-known characters of the West. Some years ago he discovered a remarkable collection of fantastic rock formations and canyons west of Grand Junction, and after a period of hard work had the National Government take this district over as a national park.

This was done last Summer and named the Colorado National Monument Park. Otto was appointed its first superintendent. Throughout the park which comprises 13,000 acres, he has constructed a remarkable series of trails opening up its wonders to the tourists. He lives in a cabin, sheltered by a clump of pinon pines, with no companions save his two ponies and seven pack burros, which have tracked the West with him from British Columbia to the Mexican line. He has considerable education and frequently contributes to the newspapers and magazines.

"I am going to put a band of black about the neck of each of my burros," said Otto, "but in four days I will burn the ribbons and scatter the ashes. Then Beatrice Farnam will have passed out of my life."

Honest Statement of Well Known Citizen

An advertisement of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which I saw in the St. Albans Messenger some time ago, induced me to give your remedy a fair trial. I was then suffering from terrible pains in the small of my back. The pain was usually greatest during the morning, and often when I attempted to arise from my bed to go to work, I found I could not do so without the assistance of some member of my family. I am very grateful for the good your great remedy has done for me.

I thought I would have to use much more Swamp-Root than I did, in order to get well, but am absolutely cured of my kidney trouble and now without the slightest pain, after using only seven bottles. Was cured about six months ago, and though I do heavy work in the shop where I have been employed for the past forty-four years, have had no recurrence of the trouble or pain in the slightest degree.

I am truly thankful for this, and while now an old man, I again feel the strength of my youth, thanks to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Many others also use it to as good advantage as I have.

Very truly yours,
JOHN FRAZIER.

$300 A YEAR FOR PET PONY IN WILL OF HIS MISTRESS

NEW YORK, April 5.—"Sunny Jim," the pet chestnut pony of Charlotte Pearsall Walker, who died recently, need have no fear for the future, for the will of his mistress just filed provides him with an annuity of $300.

The petition accompanying the will states that the real and personal property are in excess of $10,000 each, and besides "Sunny Jim," an old servant of the deceased, Lizzie Brown, is remembered with an annuity of $500.

The testator leaves the residue of the estate to Earle Campbell Douglas of this city, who, however, renounces the bequest. A brother of Mrs. Walker, Paul Spofford, of Washington, is also remembered in the will.

POSTPONES INQUEST.

NEW YORK, April 5.—At the request of the victim's mother, the inquest into the death of Mrs. Kathlene Leslie Lortllard, who killed herself in the Holland House here a few days ago, was postponed until tomorrow.

GIRLS' SCHOOL HEAD IS SUED

Mrs. J. F. Sheldon, prominent Back Bay society woman, residing at the Hotel Somerset, has sued Miss Mary Lane McClintock, who conducts one of the most exclusive girls' schools in Boston at No. 4 Arlington street, for $20,000 damages for alleged slander and defamation of character, as a result of the latter's refusal to re-admit Misses Luella and Francella Sheldon to the school, and the reason which Miss McClintock gave for her act.

In the school are the daughters of the Back Bay's most select families, while Mrs. Sheldon is a leader in society circles. For this reason, and because of the nature of the charges, the suit today attracted wide discussion.

In the papers filed in the case, Mrs. Sheldon declares that Miss McClintock accused her of excessive use of intoxicants. The formal statement is:

"The defendant falsely and maliciously accused the plaintiff of the crime and misdemeanor punishable by law, that she, the plaintiff, indulged in the excessive and voluntary use of intoxicating liquor until she became drunk; that her house was not a proper place for a self-respecting person to visit or a proper atmosphere for the rearing of her daughters."

It is claimed further by Mrs. Sheldon that, as a result of the defendant's allegations, she has suffered great mental disturbance through the refusal of people to have social intercourse with her. She declares that many of her friends have refrained from extending hospitality to her as the result of the alleged charges made by Miss McClintock.

At the school, which has accommodations for but thirty-five pupils, Miss McClintock denied all allegations of slander contained in the suit. She refused to make other than a limited explanation of the causes which led up to the filing of the libel.

"The Sheldon girls were in my school for three years," said Miss McClintock. "Last Fall, for various reasons, I refused to allow them to come back. I am very fond of both girls, but I did not deem it advisable to allow them to re-enter.

"I had some conversation with Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon in regard to the matter and it was through those talks, I suppose, that this trouble has arisen.

"This was as far as Miss McClintock's explanation went. Her attorney, Roger H. Hull, said that Miss McClintock had made no reference whatever to the use of intoxicants by Mrs. Sheldon and that the only allusion to the Sheldon home was that she did not believe the atmosphere conducive to study.

"When Miss McClintock refused to allow the Sheldon girls to re-enter school last year," the attorney said, "Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon both called and asked for explanations. These Miss McClintock was reluctant to give, but as they insisted, she explained to them that she believed their home life did not afford them a sufficient amount of study to permit of the girls remaining in the school.

"Anything stated by Miss McClintock was said in her duty as a teacher and through duty to those to whom she owed explanations for any action which she might take. And any such statements were for the protection of her other pupils. Everything, I repeat, was said through a sense of duty and without malice."

According to Mr. Hull suit was begun originally through a guardian of the two girls, who was alleged at first that Miss McClintock had slandered them. When this was proved to be untrue the suit was filed by Mrs. Sheldon.

Both Sheldon, who is a broker, and Mrs. Sheldon are out of town. Sheldon is in Philadelphia. Mrs. Sheldon is in Baltimore. Her attorney refused to make any statement.

Is Your Skin a Source of Embarrassment to You?

A bad complexion, blotches, pimples and eruptions on the face can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Perhaps you have tried many so-called "Cures" and have become discouraged. Don't give up hope.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

IS RECOMMENDED IN YOUR CASE

That which it has accomplished for others it can surely accomplish for you. More than forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood-purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can. There is no alcohol in it. The active medicinal principles of native roots, such as golden seal and queen's root, stone root and mandrake root, bloodroot and black cherry bark, are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood, and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels and, through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions, as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers, are cured and healed.

In treating old running sores or ulcers, it is well, to insure their healing, to apply to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist doesn't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia, as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

HITS SOLONS AS 'APPROACHABLE'

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Charging that nearly every Congressman and Senator was "approachable" while engaged in legislative work, Representative Clarke B. Randell of Texas, however, threw the House into a stir of indignation from which it has not yet subsided.

"I don't mean to say," he declared, "that nearly every member of this House can be bought or is subject to some influence, and what holds true of this House holds equally true of the Senate, so far as I know, with the hope that it may soon be relieved."

The Texas member was discussing his anti-lobbying bill. Judiciary Committee members say Federal employes from receiving any money from any corporation engaged in interstate commerce.

"We are not capable of being corruptly influenced, but the fact remains that they are subject to influence," he declared.

Representative Nye of Minnesota, Republican, said it would be better for the author of the bill, the House and the country if Mr. Randell would appeal from the committee to the House, "instead of reflecting indirectly on the membership of the House."

Mr. Randell protested that he meant no reflection on any one, and said that nothing he had said could be so construed.

Girl Tells How She Routed Robbers Yelled Into Phone and Fought Thug

Miss Mary Casey Was Injured in Struggle, but Protected Employer's Valuables in Store.

MISS MARY CASEY, WHO FOUGHT STORE BURGLARS

The police today gained their search for the two men who robbed the safe of E. H. Lansing, at No. 611 Washington street, basing their hunt on information given them by Miss Mary Casey of No. 12 Knowlton street, South Boston, the twenty-five-year-old girl cashier of the company, who wrenched her ankle and was badly bruised in a desperate attempt to prevent the robbery.

Miss Casey gave to a reporter the detailed story of her emotions during the brief struggle, when she turned and saw one of the bandits at the safe, and her first anger, followed by a rush of womanly timidity, that nevertheless did not prevent her risking her life to save her employer's property.

Miss Casey was badly hurt and today was at her home attended by a physician and unable to move from a chair.

By MISS MARY CASEY.

It was sitting at my desk in the office, busy over the cashbook. It was a rush time of the day, and Mr. Lansing was away. A few minutes before I had taken some cash from the safe and the door still swung open. There was only about $5 in money there, but there were valuable papers.

Two men came in. I have given their description as well as I could to the police. They were just average looking men, and I suspected nothing when one said they had an appointment with Mr. Lansing.

I told them to wait a few minutes, and he would probably return. Then I continued my work, paying no more attention to them.

After a few minutes, Mr. Lansing happened to call up. From what I said, they guessed to whom I was talking, I suppose, for I heard a movement behind me, where they were sitting.

That wasn't surprising, either, and I told Mr. Lansing that the men were waiting for him. Then, just as he said that he had no such appointment, I heard a sound at the safe. I turned quickly, still holding the telephone, and saw one of the men just drawing out the cash drawer.

There wasn't time to tell Mr. Lansing anything. I realized instantly that they were there for no good. So I just screamed into the receiver, so that Mr. Lansing would know that something was wrong, and rushed for the man at the safe.

The other fellow was standing near the door. As I started, he sprang at me.

I saw him coming, out of the corner of my eye, and tried to dodge, screaming so that others in the building would hear.

Fight With Robber.

But he caught me, and we grappled. I am pretty strong, and I held him for a minute. All the time, I could see the other man take the money from the safe. He didn't hunt for anything else, but sprang to the door and yelled to the man holding me: "Come on!"

I held on harder than ever, and screamed again, but he was too big for me. He drew back and hit me, then got a grip of my shoulders, and the next thing I went spinning across the room, felt a horrible pain in my ankle and dropped to the floor.

The pain was so great that I just fainted. The men escaped, but I hope they catch them.

Would I do the same again? Perhaps not, if I had time to think. But you see, I didn't have time to think, at first. When I turned and saw the man at the safe, it was purely instinct to jump at him. When the other man sprang at me, I was scared to death, I thought of all sorts of terrible things he might do, but in the minute before he caught my arm.

The shock and the fight have made me pretty nervous. But I guess I'd do the same thing again under the same circumstances.

GAINS BY CLARK IN WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5.—"Another day proves that the Wilson claims of a great victory of the State are only bluff," declared Charles H. Weisse, the Clark campaign manager, after two days' diligent work checking up the returns coming in here.

"Today's returns only emphasize the extent of our victory," he continued.

"In the face of the pouring of Eastern money into the State, we have the second district by a big margin; the sixth, according to new figures received today, has gone to Clark instead of Wilson, as at first supposed; and we have the eighth and ninth now, which we had only claimed before. And we have the four Clark delegates in Milwaukee.

"Our present prediction is that of the twenty-six delegates in the State, we have elected fourteen. The Wilson total will only be about 10,000 more than the vote for Clark, so the much-boasted Wilson outburst in this State is not much better than a bursting bubble."

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE

A simple home treatment that keeps the hair fine, clean, fluffy and glossy is dry shampooing once or twice a month with cheese. To prepare the powder, put a cupful of cornmeal or four ounces of powdered orris root in a fruit jar and mix with it a small original package of thereon. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush it out thoroughly, and it will take all dirt, dandruff and excess oil with it.

A luxurious everyday toilet necessity of the choicest materials can be made at home at little cost by simply dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half-pint witch hazel. Cover the face, neck and arms with this solution, and its purity, fineness and velvety softness will prove desirable and refreshing to the most sensitive skin. It beautifies without that "powdered" appearance—and "holds" as no powder does.

A splendid remedy for sores, skin eruptions, pimples, eczema and similar beauty destroyers is Mother's Salve. It heals cuts, burns and scalds without leaving a scar, and is recommended for obstinate sores. It is antiseptic as well as healing and tends to prevent blood poisoning.

Probably nothing is more humiliating to a woman than hairs on her face. However, these can be quickly removed by applying delatone paste. Mix enough powdered delatone with water to cover the hairs; leave on for two minutes, then wipe off, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone.

GOV. FOSS WITHDRAWS NAME FROM THE BALLOT

Governor Foss declines to be a candidate for an expression of preference by the Democratic voters of the State as to their choice of a nominee for President.

In letters to the Secretary of State and the chairman of the Democratic State Committee, Governor Foss not only formally withdraws his name from the primary ballot, but asks that all candidates for delegates pledged in his behalf consider themselves released.

Speaker Champ Clark and Governor Wilson of New Jersey will contest in the primaries of April 30 for an expression of opinion from the Democratic voters of the State.

The decision of the Governor to withdraw his name was reached after a conference with close political friends and advisers.

His withdrawal does not mean that he ceases to be a factor in the Baltimore convention. The Massachusetts delegates to be elected to the Democratic convention are to be free and unrestricted.

Three Weeks to Primaries.

The expression of preference by Massachusetts Democrats between Speaker Clark and Governor Wilson will have deep significance when the Democratic delegates meet in Baltimore on June 25.

In three weeks that now precede the State primaries, a Clark-Wilson contest will be conducted the State over. With Governor Foss releasing all the delegates-at-large pledged in his behalf, contests loom up all over the State for at-large delegates. Out of the field of fourteen candidates only eight can be chosen. Some of the candidates for delegates-at-large are avowedly Clark adherents, and were so before Governor Foss decided to take his name from the preferential ballot.

Letter of Withdrawal.

Governor Foss' formal letter of withdrawal, addressed to secretary of State Langtry, was as follows:

Albert P. Langtry, Secretary of State, Boston, Massachusetts:

My Dear Mr. Langtry—I hereby withdraw my name from nomination, in connection with the forthcoming presidential preference primary, and this notice to such effect is now forwarded to you under the provisions of Section 9, Chapter 550 of the Acts of 1911.

Very truly yours,

EUGENE N. FOSS.

The Governor's letter to Chairman Riley of the Democratic State Committee was:

Letter to Riley.

Boston, Mass., April 4, 1912.

Thomas P. Riley, chairman Democratic State Committee, Boston, Mass.:

My Dear Mr. Riley—I regret to learn that representatives of one or more of the avowed candidates for the presidency are in Boston today for the purpose of withdrawing their names from the ballot for the presidential preference primary in Massachusetts. It is reported that they are taking this step out of courtesy to me.

Please communicate with these representatives, if possible, and urge them to permit the names of their candidates to remain upon the ballot.

I deeply appreciate the courtesy indicated by such intended withdrawal; but, if only one name appears on the ballot, then there will be no chance for a popular expression of preference, and I cannot consent to such an arrangement, whereby the purpose of the preferential primary, which I advocated in my inaugural, would be defeated, and the people deprived of their newly acquired right.

As you know, my name has been entered upon the ballot by the Democratic State Committee, as an act of loyalty to myself as the party leader in this State. If I were to permit it to remain there, causing other names to be withdrawn, the purpose of the primary itself would be defeated.

In my judgment, my election to Congress in the Fourteenth District and two successive elections to the Governorship of Massachusetts on a platform of tariff revision and reciprocity, constitute a sufficient indication as to the sentiment of this State on these important issues. The appearance of my name upon the presidential preference ballot in accord with the old idea of voting for so-called "favorite sons" would not help the cause of these issues in the least, as they are already the dominant issues of our national party; but would only diminish the effectiveness of the new primary law.

Hence I have written to the Secretary of State today, directing that my name be taken off the ballot, and shall request such delegates as have been pledged to me to consider themselves entirely unpledged.

Very truly yours,

EUGENE N. FOSS.

The withdrawal of Governor Foss opens up several questions for the Ballot Law Commission to decide. There is no question of the Governor's right to withdraw his name as a presidential candidate. In the cases of the delegates placed in nomination, there is a question whether the application "Pledged to Eugene N. Foss," which appears on the nomination papers, can be changed without the consent of the signers of the papers. To have all the papers resigned is impossible, as all papers must be filed by 5 o'clock today with the Secretary of State.

The Ballot Law Commissioners today are endeavoring to agree as to just how far the Governor's desire to have himself eliminated as a candidate and his pledged delegates also can be met and the law complied with.

The decision of Governor Foss came unexpectedly and is being the political sensation of the State as well as being of keen interest in Washington.

Congressman James M. Curley will open next week a vigorous campaign in Massachusetts for Speaker Clark.

ROOSEVELT'S "REAL ISSUE" IS FUTURE OF THE COUNTRY

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 5.—The autonomement of the "real issue" of the campaign was the feature of Colonel Roosevelt's tour of West Virginia and vicinity. The Colonel expresses the issue thus:

"Hereafter during my campaign," he said, "I expect to emphasize the argument which I used in my speech in Louisville, that the outcome of the present campaign will be of vital importance in shaping the course of events of the nation in the future.

"I believe that I stated the issues more precisely than I have done before," said Colonel Roosevelt, "when I stated that unless this country is a pretty good place for all of us it will not be a good place for any of us. That is the important point I am trying to bring out in this campaign. This and not the personal fortunes of any one man is the real issue."

Striking hard at his political opponents here, Colonel Roosevelt charged them with using unfair methods in an effort to defeat him at the convention soon to be held in this city.

The Colonel appealed to the people to do all that lay within their power to make the convention one which would be a fair expression of the popular will.

Likens Roosevelt to Pilate.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In giving notice to the Senate today that he would speak on ex-President Roosevelt's views on judicial reform, Senator Jones of Washington declared that "Pilate-like" down by the ex-President was in line with that followed by Pontius Pilate 1,900 years ago.

Roosevelt Club at Harvard.

At a meeting of the students in the trophy room of the Harvard Union today, speeches will be made in honor of Harvard's distinguished alumnus, ex-President Roosevelt, and an organization effected for his political support.

Roosevelt Men Here to Meet.

Plans have been completed for a "get together" meeting of all Roosevelt candidates for delegates and alternates in Massachusetts on Kinsley Hall, Ford building, tomorrow. Senator Dixon, national manager of the Roosevelt campaign, will speak, and so will Senator Poindexter of Pittsburg. There will be a luncheon. It will be the first in a series of heart-to-heart talks.

BABY ITCHED AND BURNED TERRIBLY

Face and Head Fairly Raw. Pinned in Blanket to Keep from Scratching. Mother Had to Rock Him All Night. "Cuticura" Cured Him.

71 Baker St., Patchogue, N. Y.—"Shortly after my little nephew was born, his eyes became swollen and inflamed, and then the inflammation spread all over his face and neck. The face and head were fairly raw. He would go to sleep, then water would pour out of his face. His suffering was so terrible that his mother never slept in bed for four months, as she had to lie on a couch alongside his cradle and rock him all night. His head was so bad that it always had to be wrapped in a silk handkerchief. He scratched his face until it bled. Every night his little head had to be pinned in a blanket so as to keep him from scratching. He had it for nine months. Every one who saw him said that he had the most loathsome face they had ever seen on a baby. One doctor said that the baby's face, neck and head itched and burned so terribly that if the baby could talk, he would wish himself dead.

"We used different ointments advertised to cure eczema, but with no relief. Then I wrote for samples of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and my sister after trying, found that they eased him, bought the Cuticura Remedies. The only relief he would get would be when his mother would wash him with Cuticura Soap and then apply the Cuticura Ointment. He stopped scratching, and when she had used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment, his face was healed. He is now a year old and has as pretty skin as any baby ever had. There is not a scar on his face anywhere, and he has a fine head of hair. Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured him." (Signed) Miss Lillie Valentine, Nov. 17, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout every where. Samples of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on skin, scalp, hair, Address, Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap shaving stick.

Fighting the Right Plague

Kill the Catarrh Germs and the White Plague Problem Is More Than Half Solved.

Consumption is caused by germs; so is Catarrh.

People who have catarrh are liable to become victims of dread consumption. The reason is very simple. Germs of consumption, no matter how vicious, can make little headway when the membrane of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes is in a healthy condition.

When, however, the membrane is raw, sore and inflamed because of catarrh and the ravages of devilish catarrh microbes, the germs of consumption can easily and quickly find a home to their liking and thus begin thousands of cases of consumption. It starts with a cough and ends in a coffin.

Get rid of catarrh, if you have it, and you can get rid of it if you will breathe HYOMEI, a soothing, healing antiseptic air that reaches the nose and throat and goes clear into the air cells of the lungs, where it destroys catarrh germs and cures catarrh.

Sprays, douches, snuffs, ointments and stomach dosing won't cure catarrh. You've got to get where the germs are before you can kill them, and HYOMEI gets there while all other treatments fail.

Delays only invite needless danger; get a HYOMEI outfit today at any good drug store for $1.00. If you already own a HYOMEI inhaler, you can get a bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents.

YOU SURE CAN'T PLAY 'EM IF YOU HAVEN'T GOT 'EM

—POSNER

A man needn't be a poker player or a bridge whist expert to know that "when you haven't got the cards you can't play 'em."

In business I have long observed the rule that "when I haven't got the goods I can't sell 'em." Therefore I have never advertised values that were not in the goods—never made statements that were open to question.

It surely makes me laugh when I see the efforts of other merchants in my line trying to play cards that I hold.

Get me on this point!

When I selected the Stein-Bloch garments for the leader in my clothing department, I had my choice of every high-grade line in America.

I accepted the exclusive agency in Boston of Stein-Bloch goods because they are the very highest attainment in tailored clothes for men that are produced on earth, today.

They carry more style—are built from finer cloth—are tailored better in every way—fit better—wear better—look more class and give more real satisfaction to the man who wears them than any brand of clothing on the market.

There is the reason why you should buy your next suit or overcoat at my store. It is the reason why I am now selling more strictly high grade clothes than any other store in Boston—because I sell this magnificent line of clothing at prices within the reach of everybody.

"You can't play 'em if you haven't got 'em," and I have got 'em in every style—standard, snug fit, English soft roll, extreme, raglan, dress coats, evening clothes, Norfolks, oxfords, worsteds, serges, vicunas, finished or undressed worsteds, rough, smooth mixed, gray, brown, blue, smoke, mottled or black.

Every suit strictly 1912 delivery—nothing from last year's stock—and the prices as compared to the values much less than those of any other clothier in New England.

For the men and young men who feel that $15 is about their limit in a suit or overcoat, I have made a very special effort. I feel that they are entitled to as much style as the man paying higher prices, and with this idea in mind, I have contracted with a high grade tailor to build the very best clothes in America at this price.

They come in all the colors and models of the higher priced clothes and I guarantee them satisfactory in every way. They are worth every cent of $20 as gauged by other dealers' standard of value.

HILL SPEEDS TO SICK DAUGHTER

ST. PAUL, April 5.—James J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern Railroad, is hurrying to his home here, where his youngest unmarried daughter, Miss Rachel Hill, and his son-in-law, George F. a Shade, vice-president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, are seriously ill with typhoid fever.

Dr. Herman Biltz of New York, a noted typhoid specialist, is at the home of Mr. Hill here endeavoring to save the lives of the sick ones.

James W. Hill, president of the Great Northern, is expected soon from California. Mrs. D. Hill and Miss Clara Hill have arrived from Jekell Island, Ga.

Miss Rachel Hill has been ill for ten days, but her condition did not become alarming until she took a turn for the worse last night.

Roosevelt's Face on Progressive Hen's Egg

COLUMBIA, Ct., April 5.—Since a hen owned by Charles Marshall of this place laid an egg with a picture of Colonel Roosevelt stamped on the shell, there has been a lot of speculation in poultry and scientific circles over the matter, and recently a scientist to whom the egg was sent has asked if he can get another of the same kind.

He does not believe the likeness of the Colonel was produced without some artificial assistance, but says that he and other scientists who have seen the egg were unable to discover even by long experiment how the picture was made. In their efforts they broke the egg.

Mr. Marshall says the egg was just as the hen laid it. She has laid others with pictures on the shells, but just now he cannot supply another.

WAIT MESSAGE FROM DR. FUNK

NEW YORK, April 5.—Through the death of Dr. Isaac Kaufman Funk, in his home at Montclair, N. J., yesterday, members of the American Society for Psychical Research hope to obtain an authoritative communication from another world. Dr. Funk has made elaborate arrangements to establish communication with a living person on earth following his death, according to a statement he made after the death in Boston of Professor William James of the department of psychology at Harvard University.

Dr. James had arranged, it was understood, to attempt to communicate with the earth through the medium of his spirit or that of another, and Dr. James H. Hyslop, formerly professor of psychology at Columbia University, was designated as the person to whom he would send a message from beyond the grave.

Professor Hyslop has remained reticent concerning the matter, but it was believed in spiritual circles that he had received a message which he attributes as coming from Dr. James.

Following the Dr. James affair Dr. Funk said he had arranged to send messages from the next world after his death and had completed improved arrangements, using them on Dr. Hyslop's experience with Dr. James.

"We have determined on a certain code of signals which no one on earth knows but the person to whom I will communicate and myself," said Dr. Funk at the time. "If he receives one of these signals after my death he will be absolutely certain by it that I have reached him. He will then establish communication with me, either through a designated medium or by some means, which I may find in the next world."

BIG ADVANCE IN COTTON SHIPMENT

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The reports of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, issued today, show that exports of cotton manufactures from the United States in February were fifty per cent, larger than in February of the preceding year, having been practically five million dollars against $3,750,000 in February 1911, and in the eight months ending with February $32,000,000 against $26,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1911. The value of cotton goods exported in the eight months ending with February, $32,020,941, exceeds that of the corresponding period in any year except 1909, when the total for the eight months in question was $36,972,549.

PRETTY WITNESS HUGS LAWYER TO ANSWER QUESTION

NEW YORK, April 5.—Pretty Mrs. Belle Kiel set the Supreme Court in an uproar in the divorce suit brought by Charles F. Kinsman when she hugged Charles Le Barbier to show him how Mrs. Lillian Kinsman, the defendant, embraced Ellis, the co-respondent. She was Mrs. Kinsman's maid.

The jurors and Judge Delancy laughed heartily at the spectacle, suggesting that Mr. Le Barbier had intended to disconcert the maid when he asked her to make the demonstration.

MANCHESTER PROBES HIGH SCHOOL THEFTS

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 5.—As a result of petty thievery, which has been going on in the high school here for some time, it is expected that 250 boys enrolled will be ordered to "chip in" a dime apiece toward replacing a stolen overcoat of one of their number. Because of the thieving being done, the police detectives were sent on the case and watched for the person committing these thefts, but in vain. Money was stolen from overcoats in the boys and girls' coat rooms and other small articles of value taken.

HENS KNEW MASTER'S VOICE, TESTIMONY IN LARCENY CASE

BROCKTON, April 5.—Testimony by Swan Paulson of Bridgewater that certain hens in the possession of George B. Ellis came when he, Paulson, called them, thus showing that they recognized their master's voice, together with plaster casts of certain footprints found about the accused hen house, resulted in Ellis being held for the Grand Jury in $500 bonds on a charge of stealing twelve hens.

Bridgewater police introduced the plaster casts of footprints to show that George B. Ellis of Bridgewater was guilty of stealing the fowl.

MISSES FULLER SING FOLK SONGS

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

Quite different from the ordinary run of concerts was the recital of English folk songs which occurred in the Twentieth Century Club Hall last evening by the Misses Fricker, Dorothy and Rosalind Fuller.

The Misses Fuller are English girls and children. They wear early Victorian costumes and sing to an accompaniment on the Irish harp.

They have fresh, sweet voices, and sing their quaint folk songs with sympathetic and humorous appreciation.

The concert is interesting, among other reasons because most of the songs are quite unknown on this side of the water. Some of them have scarcely penetrated beyond the boundaries of the English counties where they were born. They smack of the soil and the common people.

The English have no rich vein of native melody which distinguishes the Scotch and the Irish. There were few beautiful tunes in the score or so of folk songs that were sung last night. Many of them seemed to be set to the same melody, and frequently the singers were out of tune simply because there was no tune to start with.

There were exceptions. "My Man John" possesses a pleasing and distinctive melody. Usually, however, it was the quaintness and simplicity of the verses that pleased the audience.

An amusing feature was the singing of "The Gypsy and the Squire and Pheasants," a ballad of the defeat of an American vessel in the War of 1812, which the girls sang as if they expected to be punished for their temerity.

FEAR OPEN WAR IN COAL FIELDS

WILKES BARRE, Pa., April 5.—Open warfare between the miners and operators in the anthracite region is expected at any time today on account of the miners' demand that only union men be permitted to do repair work about the collieries.

The operators declare this demand is in direct violation of the ruling of the Anthracite Strike Commission, which declared against discrimination of any sort.

Operators are today claiming that the union leaders are breaking the peace rules they publicly advocated when the suspension went into effect and from the statement of big men of the coal committee it is plain that the parting of the ways is at hand and that trouble can be expected.

Serious opposition is being raised by the operators against the plan of the mine leaders in inserting parleys about the various collieries to bring men into the union. There is, it is understood, to this plan and the operators declare it is one act which will precipitate trouble.

One of the chief reasons for the trouble is that the union leaders have refused to permit the companies to make many needed improvements. The refusal to permit this work has prompted the companies to threaten that if improvements cannot be made in a period of forced idleness they will force a suspension on the men after peace has been declared, to carry out the improvement plans.

SENATOR POWERS, WHO HAS PLANNED SUNDAY CONCERT

SENATOR JAMES F. POWERS.

CONGRESS CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT

Senator James F. Powers of South Boston, and the other members of the Congress Club, will give a sacred concert in Congress Hall, South Boston, on Sunday evening for the benefit of the poor of the district.

Talent for the entertainment will be furnished by the managers of nearly all the Boston theatres and there is every prospect of the concert being well patronized.

The concert is but another idea of Senator Powers' to benefit the poor of South Boston. His Summer excursions and outings have been a blessing to many a needy mother and have brought him much praise from those in the district he represents.

The circulation of the AMERICAN is 200,000 more than its next highest competitor and 100,000 more than all the other evening papers of Boston combined.

REAL AWAKENING ALL OVER CHINA

LONDON, April 5.—From an ancient oligarchy to the most extreme democracy —that's the first step taken by the baby republic of China. Already these changes are being brought about:

The adoption of Henry George Single Tax system.

The control of the railroads, mines and other like concerns by the government.

Free trade.

The swinging off of the queues.

The wearing of frock coats and silk hats.

The prime mover in this remarkably radical change of governmental and private life is Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who imbibed his ideas when living in America and England.

In an interview with Dr. Sun, cabled from Shanghai, he gave his reasons for his broadest of the changes by China of the extreme democratic ideas that he has promulgated there. Dr. Sun Yat Sen was the Provisional President of China. He gave way to the regularly elected President, Yuan Shi Kai.

Great Social Revolution.

"I have finished the political revolution," said the Chinese statesman, "and now will commence the greatest social revolution in the world's history," said Dr. Sun.

"The abdication of the Manchus is only a means to greater development, and the policy of the republic will be in the direction of socialism.

"I am an ardent follower of Henry George, whose ideas are practicable on the rich soil of China as compared with the impracticability in Europe or the United States, where the money is controlled by the capitalists."

Upheaval in Thibet.

He declared that the government was fully in sympathy with him and was backing his movement to bring about the establishment of the changes he desires.

Dispatches from Gyangse, Thibet, report that the Chinese have organized a representative assembly at Lrbasea, the capital of Thibet, and proclaimed a republic.

The officials have cut off their queues and some of them are wearing silk hats and frock coats.

The Tibetans oppose the change and are threatening to exterminate the Chinese. Fighting has occurred near Singaise, 150 miles from Lhassa.

A Tientsin dispatch says the reported assassination of General Li Yuen-Heng, Vice-President of the Chinese Republic, is confirmed. There is no confirmation of the rumor from any other source.

RHODE ISLAND G. A. R. HOLDS ENCAMPMENT

Thomas M. Holden of River Point was elected commander. Other officers were chosen as follows: Senior vice-department commander, Patrick Egan, Providence; junior vice-department commander, George H. Check, Pawtucket; medical director, Charles H. Leonard, Providence; chaplain, Rev. S. S. Gould, Providence.

AMERICA'S MIRACLE—LILLIAN RUSSELL.

AMBASSADOR WILSON'S WIFE QUITS MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, April 5.—Mrs. Henry Lane Wilson, wife of the American Ambassador, has left for Ithaca, N. Y., where her son, Warden, a student at Cornell, is seriously ill. The Ambassador published telegrams from President Taft and others to say any possible alarms to Americans in Mexico growing out of the departure of Mrs. Wilson.

WILEY PRAISED BY CONSUMERS' LEAGUE

NEW YORK, April 5.—The food committee of the National Consumers' League, at a meeting in New York, adopted resolutions expressing regret at the resignation of Harvey W. Wiley as chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture and characterizing his withdrawal as the serious culmination of the struggle for the honest enforcement of the law.

CHARGE MERCHANT WITH $200,000 THEFT

NEW YORK, April 5.—Trailing a band of thieves that have committed at least twenty-five robberies amounting in all to from large New York dry goods firms during the last three months, the New York police were led to Rockaway, N. J., where Joseph Harris, a wealthy dry goods merchant, was arrested. They found a quantity of packing boxes in a shed which was a part of the Harris establishment at Rockaway.

Tinware that Wears

Lasting power in tinware is not accidental. It depends absolutely on the quality and weight of the tin and the methods of manufacture. The cheapest ware is sure to prove the most expensive, because of its short resistance to rust. The durability of tinware does not depend on its strongest parts but on its weakest. Mechanically stamped ware is stretched thin in some parts and wrinkled and thick in others. The thin spots soon rust through and the article is thrown away.

MASON'S TIN-WARE

"Tinware that Wears"

is made of heavy charcoal tin plate coated with tin (produced for our exclusive use). The stock is not stamped and made thin in spots, but is cut, shaped and soldered together. Good materials and thorough workmanship are the foundations upon which this business was built in 1851 and they have never been changed.

When you buy tinware look for Mason's trade-mark and you will know you are getting the most economical and attractive ware you can buy.

How Something Better Than Mere Five O'Clock Tea Comes in the Way of the Villain

Copyright, 1912, by the National News Association

By Hershfield

YOU COULDN'T ESCAPE ME OF-THESE NOBLE CHINESE SAILORS, DESMOND. YOU WILL NEVER TRY TO STEAL MY ROSAMOND AGAIN!
I HATE YOU, VILLAIN DESMOND. I LOVE ONLY MY HERO, CLAUDE ECLAIRE
CURSES! I MUST SURRENDER NOW, CLAUDE, BUT MY REVENGE WILL COME!
CURSES! THEY ARE WALKING ME THROUGH THIS TEA FIELD ON THE WAY TO THE FOO YON PRISON.
BAH JOVE! HERE COMES A JOLLY PARTY
OH, CLAUDE, LET'S HALT THE PRISONER, DESMOND AND HAVE SOME REFRESHING TEA. THEY HAVE LOTS TO SPARE.
CURSES! I'M BOUND AND AM NOT INVITED TO TEA!
BAH JOVE! YOU ARE JUST IN TIME FOR 5 O'CLOCK TEA. LET THE CHINESE SAILORS JOIN, AND MISS ROSAMOND WILL SERVE.
SO YOU REPRESENT A GREAT ENGLISH TEA CO.?
AHA SKY, ENGLISH AGENT GIVING CHINESE SAILORS TEA PARTY SO ENGLAND MAY BUY MONGOLIA FROM CHINA. BUT I AM FOR THE CZAR OF RUSSIA
BAH JOVE! THIS IS A RICH COUNTRY FOR TEA GROWING. I WISH ENGLAND OWNED IT
SURRENDER! I REPRESENT THE CZAR OF RUSSIA. COME ALONG!
YES! I HEARD THEIR PLOTS TO STEAL CHINA FOR ENGLAND. RELEASE ME AND I'LL TELL YOU ALL!
A LIE
YOU VILLAIN! I HATE YOU. MY CLAUDE IS INNOCENT!
YES, STROGOFF, THIS CLAUDE IS A NIHILIST, TOO. HE OUGHT TO BE SHIPPED OUT OF CHINA TO SIBERIA.
Herb Hershfield

I.—CAPTURING THE VILLAIN.

Despite Desmond's efforts to escape by swimming the river, Claude and the Chinese patrol have captured him, and he is now being hauled aboard the government junk. This time Claude has resolved that there will be no opportunity given the villain to escape the fate that he so richly deserves. Rosamond, too, has come to the conclusion that no mercy should be shown him.

II.—THROUGH THE TEA FIELDS.

Landing from the river boat, Claude and the Chinese escort their notorious prisoner through the tea fields to the Foo Yon prison, where Desmond is likely to spend the rest of his life. In the tea fields they see an English buyer about to test the quality of some tea he thinks of purchasing for his firm, and Rosamond anxiously asks Claude to get her a cup of it.

III.—A MERRY PARTY.

Exhausted by their struggles in the capture of Desmond, all hands gladly accept the opportunity to rest awhile and to get a cup of hot tea. The English buyer cannot do without his "five o'clock," and he invites the entire party to join him. Rosamond, with wondrous grace, pours the tea at this strange party in the heart of wild China, while Claude admires.

IV.—OVERHEARD.

As the tea fields are on the border of Mongolia, Russian spies are constantly around, and one of them now creeps close to the little party that is innocently enjoying the excellent tea in quantities to delight the heart of a grocer. The English buyer is busily talking about the country and how England should possess it as the Russian listens. All are guilty, he thinks.

V.—SURPRISED.

In a moment the Russian spy marshals his men, and they suddenly spring out upon the tea party. Desmond is quick to realize his advantage, and he tells the Russian that he heard Claude and the Englishman planning the downfall of China for the benefit of England against Russia. Needless for the others to protest. Nothing that they can say will now be heeded.

VI.—TO THE MINES.

Not only does Desmond accuse Claude of being a plotter, but he now says that our hero is a Nihilist and that he should be sent to the mines for life. The Russian officials Desmond to drag the little party into captivity, despite the protests of Rosamond and the others. Tomorrow the story of Claude's escape from the dreaded Russians will be shown by the artist.

NO CARS FOR AUTO SHIPMENT

By J. C. KERRISON.

Never in the history of the motor industry has the scarcity of freight cars been so great as it is today. Detroit, as the greatest motor manufacturing centre, unquestionably feels the effect more than any one other city and, it is said, more than one factory is greatly handicapped pending the output of its products.

Harry K. Noyes, who recently returned from Detroit, says that never in all his life has he witnessed such conditions. He says: "The great majority of the plants in Detroit have cars waiting shipment and there are several instances where cars unpacked in public squares and streets, the only protection against the weather being their tops.

"There is a congestion of loaded cars all over the country and I have been informed by reliable persons that there is something like 14,000 freight cars tied up on the tracks in and around Toledo and something like 14,000 on the tracks to the west of the Hoosac Tunnel.

"This comes as a result of the long and continued cold weather, and it will take something like six weeks of steady work to clear the rails and get the traffic in proper shape along the line of the New York Central alone."

Manager Ketchum of the General Motors Company reports that during the month of March the Boston branch sold not less than sixteen G. M. C. trucks and he inaugurated the present month by the sale of a two-ton truck on Monday last.

J. H. MacAlman has received the first reorder of a Stearns-Knight car that is on record. The order came from George N. Talbot of Boston, who was so well pleased with the work that his Stearns-Knight touring car had done during the five months it had been in his possession that he placed an order for a Stearns-Knight landaulet on Monday last.

AYCOCK KILLED BY CAMPAIGN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5.—Just as he was ready to start on his tour for the Democratic nomination by State primary for United States Senator from North Carolina, to succeed Senator Simmons, Charles B. Aycock, a former Governor of North Carolina, dropped dead while addressing the Alabama Educational Association here.

Mr. Aycock had been speaking a few minutes when he staggered back a step and fell to the floor so suddenly that those on the stage were unable to reach him in time. He died almost instantly. Governor O'Neal of Alabama and other prominent in educational circles in the South were seated on the stage.

Mr. Aycock left his home in Raleigh, N. C., Tuesday night to deliver an educational address at Birmingham, the first speech he had made outside a courthouse this year.

He had been in poor health for some months and only a week ago returned to Raleigh from Philadelphia, where he spent a month in a sanitarium fortifying himself for the strenuous canvass of the State which he was to begin today.

Mrs. Gage Denies Bell Was Insane

Washington Woman Declares Bell Kept Her Out of Society, and Threatened to Horsewhip Him.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Miss Margaret Gage, daughter of Mrs. Harely Calvin Gage, who was incarcerated in St. Elizabeth Asylum, charged by millionaire Charles J. Bell with threatening his life, on the witness stand in defense of her mother's sanity declared that Mrs. Gage's belief that Bell was persecuting her was inspired by Mrs. Archibald Gracie, a leader in Washington and New York society.

Bell, president of the American Security Company, is a brother of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

Alleging that Mrs. Gage, who lives in fashionable Dupont circle, had stated that because he had been instrumental in barring her from Washington society, she "would kill him, even if she hanged for it," Bell caused her arrest and subsequent incarceration several weeks ago.

The hearing was before a jury impanelled to determine the sanity of Mrs. Gage, who was committed to the asylum.

In court were Mrs. A. L. Barber, widow of the concrete millionaire, who was accompanied by Miss Ellen Stone, the missionary who was once captured by the Turks; Mrs. Howard Reedie, wife of an official of the bank who is accused by Mrs. Gage of being a tool of Bell, and many others prominent in Washington society.

Mrs. Harriett Douglas, sister-in-law of the Bishop of Washington, though served with a subpoena, failed to appear, and government officers searched in vain to serve a subpoena upon Mrs. Gracie.

Attired in a fashionable gown of blue sondeloth and a big black hat trimmed with plumes, Mrs. Gage was seated beside her daughter Margaret who was dressed in black.

It was 2:30 o'clock when Miss Gage was summoned to the witness stand, and she remained there until 4 o'clock, when court adjourned for a week, during which time Miss Gage was reminded to St. Elizabeths.

"When did your mother first suspect Mr. Bell of having anything to do with your social ostracism?" asked Mrs. Lockwood.

"Mr. Bell the Autocrat."

"Three years ago on Friday, December 15, mother and I paid a call on Mrs. Archibald Gracie, whom we had met and who had always appeared friendly to us. While we were there Mrs. Gracie said:

"'Mrs. Gage, it is a sin and a crime for you to keep that girl (meaning me) here. Mr. Bell and Mr. Kerr will never let you succeed here socially or otherwise. My advice to you is to take your daughter back North and sell your property here. Mr. Bell is the autocrat of the District of Columbia and wields great power.'

"This agitated mother and the next day she called Mr. Kerr on the telephone and told him of Mrs. Gracie's conversation. She also told him if Mr. Bell did not cease these persecutions she would horsewhip him.

"Did you hear this telephone conversation?" asked Mrs. Lockwood.

"I did not."

"Did you ever hear Mrs. Gage threaten Mr. Bell at any other time?"

"Never."

Associate of Leading Women.

Miss Gage testified that her mother organized the National Society of Colonial Daughters, which includes among its members Mrs. Taft, Mrs. James G. Sherman, Mrs. Pallander C. Knox, Mrs. William J. Bryan, Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. Barbadie, Mrs. David J. Brewer, Mrs. William Seward Webb, Mrs. William Nelson Cromwell, Mrs. Stevenson Fish, Mrs. Levi P. Morton, Mrs. George J. Gould, Mrs. C. P. J. Belmont, Miss Olivia E. Pierrepont Stokes, Mrs. Paul Morton, Mrs. John Eller Trotter, Mrs. Elbert H. Gary, Mrs. William P. Endicott, Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, Mrs. Arthur Twining Hadley, Mrs. William F. Draper, Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts, Mrs. Myron T. Herrick, Mrs. George M. Pullman, Mrs. Harley Calvin Gage, Mrs. Winfield Scott Gage, Mrs. Frank B. Lowden, Mrs. William Loeb, Jr., Mrs. Bradley Martin and Mrs. John W. Mackay.

In connection with this society Miss Gage placed a letter in evidence from the President consenting that a medal, offered by the society for the best school essay on "Good Citizenship," should be known as the William Howard Taft medal.

"When called to the stand, Bell testified that he had seen Mrs. Gage only once, about a year and a half ago, when she called on him at his office.

"What did Mrs. Gage talk about when she called on you?" asked Mrs. Lockwood of the banker.

Says She Rambled.

"She started off in a rambling fashion and asked me if I knew anything of keeping her daughter and herself out of Washington society. She was such a remarkable statement that it startled me. I told her I did not care for the privilege of her acquaintance, so therefore could not be keeping her out of society."

"You have influence with society here?" asked Mrs. Lockwood.

"Yes, and no. Of course, I know lots of society people, but I am very 'light' on society, so to speak."

Mr. Bell finally acquitted his family in prominent in Washington society.

"Did Mrs. Gage make any demonstrations when you viewed you at the time of this meeting?"

"None whatever."

"Have you tried to use any influence to keep Mrs. Gage or her daughter out of society?"

"Never."

"Do you know Mrs. Archibald Gracie?" Mrs. Lockwood asked.

"Only slightly."

"Did you ever tell her you were driving Mrs. Gage out of town?"

"Never."

"When did you next hear of Mrs. Gage?" "About three months ago, when she called me by telephone. I had then begun to hear unfavorable things she was saying of me, threatening to horsewhip and lustir to kill me. Of course, I felt I must take steps to stop it, and appealed to the police for protection."

"Were you afraid of Mrs. Gage, Mr Bell?"

"I am afraid of any insane person."

In conclusion Mr. Bell denied ever attempting to drive Mrs. Gage out of town and that he ever made any business proposal or a bargain, as was alleged.

Mrs. Gage's daughter, Miss Gage at the close of her arrest that Mr. Bell is the head of a "social Mafia" which sells real estate by inspiring newcomers on the promise of aiding them to enter society. This organization, the allegation goes, forces them to sacrifice their property and bounds them out of town.

Mr. Bell denied belonging to or knowing of any such organization. He was at a loss, he stated, to explain Mrs. Gage's attitude.

BROWNE VINDICATED BY VOTE IN VERMONT

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 5.—Early today, by a vote of 76 to 4, the Democratic State Committee vindicated T. H. Browne of Rutland, national committeeman, of the charge of misappropriation of nearly $1,000 of a campaign fund, the charge being made by ex-Mayor James E. Burke of this city.

NEW DEFENCE IN VERMILYA CASE

CHICAGO, April 5.—That the defence of Mrs. Louise Vermilya, charged with killing Richard T. Smith, a lodger in her home, by poison, will be that he committed suicide developed when Russell F. Thomson testified that Smith threatened two months before his death to take his own life. Thomson exhibited a bottle containing chloral, which, he testified, he took away from Smith.

Thomson's statement was unexpected by the prosecution and it was admitted after vigorous protests on the part of the prosecution.

The witness also asserted Smith was taking medicine at the time he threatened to end his life. The prosecution has contended Smith was taken ill suddenly at Mrs. Vermilya's home.

"I've something here which will end it all," Thompson quoted Smith as saying when he exhibited the poison.

Seated in a wheel chair close to the jury box, Mrs. Vermilya concluded her direct examination in a low voice.

Mrs. Vermilya told of a trip she made to Henderson, Ill., where Smith was buried. She said she went at the request of Joseph G. Smith, a brother, and A. P. Schaefer, a friend of the Smith family, and found most of her time comforting Mrs. Smith, the mother, who denied ever receiving any money or jewelry from Smith.

Mrs. Vermilya denied that she attempted to commit suicide at her home in the presence of Smith, and that she told the nurse gave her a box containing insect powder, which she mistook for pepper and which she used in seasoning her food.

"I was all in a nervous state and I had no idea of taking my life," explained the woman, who denied ownership of the box.

The courtroom was crowded by persons anxious to get a glimpse of the alleged prisoner, but she faced the ordeal calmly.

MRS. NIBLO ROBBED OF $1,243 JEWELRY

DETROIT, April 5.—Thieves entered the apartments of Mrs. Fred Niblo, on the seventh floor of a hotel, and stole jewelry valued at $1,243 from wardrobe trunks in the room, the police were informed today. Mrs. Niblo, under her maiden name of Josephine Collins, was a member of George M. Cohan's company here with her husband.

The People Less Important to Mr. Taft, Who Now Coaxes "Big Business" to His Aid

IT is in no captious spirit that the AMERICAN points to the sudden transformation of Mr. Taft in his attitude toward "Big Business."

In most of the earlier acts of his administration and in later speeches, up to three months ago, he seemed eager to champion the rights of the people, exulting in the strength of the law, and determined to apply the whole force of that law with unflinching rigor against all combinations of capital that could be suspected of monopoly or restraint of trade.

Mr. Taft appeared then as the man with a mission, facing a serious social emergency, and resolute to meet it.

If Big Business stood in the path of the public welfare, he had resolved that Big Business should be made smaller—rather than that the people should be diminished in power or the law be permitted to fail.

Look on that picture, and then upon the composite portrait of Mr. Taft's mind, furnished by his recent speeches. He now stands facing the Election judgment day—and his mind has completely changed. Now his one absorbing thought is to make himself acceptable to the masters of corporate finance.

Mr. Taft has ceased to think that anything is wrong, and ceased to say that anything is to be done. He no longer insists upon a resolute remedy for social ills. He prophesies smooth things. Good or bad, he is now satisfied to leave things as they are. He has trimmed his mind to the thought that nothing could be worse for the country than that trust managers should be offended or discouraged, and that nothing could be better for the country than to stand pat.

On the 7th of January, 1910, the President sent a special message to Congress which contained such words as these:

> "It is the duty and purpose of the Executive to direct an investigation by the Department of Justice, through the Grand Jury or otherwise, into the history, organization and purposes of all the industrial companies, with respect to which there is any reasonable grounds for suspicion that they have organized for a purpose and are conducting business on a plan which is in violation of the anti-trust law."

Reference to the Grand Jury was universally understood as a measure of criminal prosecution. It could mean nothing less. In a positive and uncompromising speech made before the District Board of Commerce on the 19th of September, 1911, Mr. Taft cited these words and said:

> "I wish to repeat this now and to say further that the Attorney-General has instituted investigations into all the industrial companies thus described; and that these investigations are in various stages of completion."

It was in this Detroit speech that Mr. Taft declared war upon all forms of monopoly to the last resource of the courts and the last ditch of lawless resistance. He said:

> "We did once get along with competition; we can get along with it. We did get along without monopoly; we can get along without it. And the business men of this country must square themselves to that necessity. Either this, or we must proceed to State Socialism, and vest the government with power to run every business."

In his bold defiance of the Trusts Mr. Taft's mildest and most placable word at that time was that he looked "for a complete revolution of feeling on the part of the business men of this country—leading to a clear understanding by them of the limitations that must be imposed upon any business combination made by them in the future."

At Pocatello in Idaho on the 6th of October, 1911, the President declared that "the Trust prosecutions must go on to the bitter end, that he had no right or power to stop them.

> "To one in my place there is no discretion with reference to the trial of cases brought to the attention of the Executive in violation of the law. The prosecutions must go on. It is not for the Executive to say he can withhold criminal prosecutions, just to help business. Business must reform itself, and these executive duties must be performed under the oath of office that I took."

It is not necessary to multiply further illustrations of Mr. Taft's former attitude toward Big Business. Every reader will recall that in the series of speeches during his transcontinental tour last fall, President Taft's dominant and controlling idea was persistent and uncompromising war against lawless plutocracy.

Mr. Taft's recent speeches show a complete right about face. He now speaks of Big Business in words of sympathy and kindness. He deplores agitation. He invokes confidence. There is no longer any talk of the absurdity of withholding criminal prosecutions—"just to help business." No longer any warnings that "it is the duty of business to reform itself."

In his speech made in Ohio last week the burden of the President's intent is to be found in words lamenting that "agitation which creates lack of confidence among those who have capital." Or, again, he says, "What I would press upon you and what I would press upon myself is the necessity for inspiring confidence—that men in active business will put as much money in it as they can."

Last Thursday night Mr. Taft stood in the Philadelphia Bourse and gave full utterance to his revised and pre-election creed of practical politics thus:

> "While I do not deprecate in any way the movement for real reform and progress, provided it is sane and not affected with fads and a disposition to disturb those things that have been useful to us for one hundred years, I am nevertheless conscious that there is no duty so heavy upon the Government at Washington as that of seeing to it that it interferes as little as possible with the business of the country."

Now, no fair-minded man, reflecting upon this astonishing difference of accent between Mr. Taft's mid-term speeches and his pre-election speeches, can fail to be impressed by the fact that Mr. Taft hopes to be made President again, not by the power of the people, but by the power of Big Business.

When he was not actively seeking renomination and re-election he spoke frankly to the people as their champion, advocate and executive. He relied on their support.

As he approaches the June convention he turns away from the people and his appeal is to Big Business without whose support he seems to feel his cause hopeless, and with whose support he counts his election safe—if he can get the nomination. Men diminish in importance within his vision, and Money becomes all important.

This fact is novel. It is unprecedented in the history of the United States. One will search in vain the records of the past to find a case where a President, seeking a second term, has risked the disaffection of the mass of the people for the sake of winning the great financial interests.

When before did a President defy all special interests in the middle of his term when no election was pending, and then turn away from the people and from the common right and sue for admittance at the door of Dives?

This is an amazing and ominous spectacle. It shows plainly enough that our election machinery, as understood by Mr. Taft and his advisers, is not worked by the people to express the will of the people, but is worked by the great financial interests to express the will of those interests.

It is a tradition of American politics that public officials are less careful to please the people when the question of re-election is far off; and are more careful to please the people when the day of voting is at hand. Thus it was that President Cleveland launched his boldest defiance of the tariff interests at the moment when he descended into the electoral arena to win a second term. And Roosevelt, however concessive to the trusts in his mid-term, went forth to struggle for re-election with a shout of challenge to Big Business.

A President now stands, with his hat in his hand, asking the Trusts to retain him in his office.

Could there be a more convincing demonstration of the need of these reforms in the methods of free government which shall take Electoral power out of the hands of private corporations and restore it to the people?

The Home-Going Crowd

By BERTON BRALEY

OUT from the offices, out from the stores
Like a black river humanity pours,
Crowding the sidewalks and filling the street
With the hurrying shuffle of numberless feet;
The street lights are glaring ablaze through the dusk,
The corner policeman is busy and brusk,
As his uplifted hand keeps the motormen cowed
While they bang on their bells at the home-going crowd.

Down to the subway and up to the "L"
The work-weary thousands are rushing pell-mell;
And into the surface cars swiftly they swarm
Like a hive of black bees on an old-fashioned farm.
There's a rumble and clatter of wagons and drays,
The hooting of autos that thread through the maze;
The yell of the newsboys, unceasing and loud,
As they dive through the stream of the home-going crowd!

Clerks who have laid by their working-hour smirk,
Shop girls whose faces are drawn with their work;
Business men weary, yet tense with the strain
They've put on the forces of body and brain:
Workmen who sag with their long hours of toil,
Shoppers all laden with bargain sale spoil;
The meek and the mighty, the humble and proud
Are all on a plane in the home-going crowd!

The day's work is over and so, through the gloam,
The workers are turning their faces toward home.
It may be a flat where the little wife waits,
Or a bourding house full of the rattle of plates;
But it's Home just the same—meaning dinner and rest,
And comfort and freedom from labor's behest—
And so, though it's querulous, nervous, harsh-browed,
There's JOY at the HEART of the home-going crowd!

The earth was made so various, that the mind
Of desultory man, studious of change
And pleased with novelty, might be indulged.
—COWPER.
